Psychic's invitation to NEWS readers:

'JUST DROP ME A LINE

SUPER PSYCHIC Corrine Blackwell credits her amazing ability to see into the future to a "sixth sense." She just holds letters in her hand and meditates.

By PETE COOKE

Psychic advisor Corrine Blackwell wants to help you solve your personal problems.

Since she started her "Ask the Psychic" column three months ago in a small weekly newspaper outside Dallas, Corrine has had incredible success in helping the troubled readers who write her.

"I just hold the letters in my hand and meditate until I have the answer to the person's problem," Corrine said. "I pray a lot, too. It's like a doctor before surgery. It would break my heart if I gave a person the wrong advice."

Many of those who write to Corrine ask her to take a glimpse into their future need advice about whether they should change jobs. Some need help with their love life and still others are worried about their health.

"One woman had a big knot on her breast and wanted to know if I thought it was serious and I said no. I didn't think it was," Corrine recalled. "I told her to get a white candle and burn it before she went to the doctor and it turned out to be benign."

Corrine said it was a similar problem that convinced her of her psychic abilities many years ago.

"A lady lived next to us and I knew she had breast cancer," Corrine said. "I kept urging her to go to the doctor and finally she took my advice and went. She did have breast cancer, but it was too late to save her and she died about six months later."

Corrine's sixth sense has quietly guided her while raising her five children and helping to run the famous Corrine's fried chicken restaurants.

"I didn't even tell my kids about being psychic until recently because I thought it might scare them," she said.

But with her children grown and their lives now running the family business, Corrine decided the time had come to share her gift.

Corrine's column, published in The Press, a weekly paper in Ennis, Tex., has been a big hit and Corrine's mail regularly includes thank you notes from readers who have followed her advice.

"It's really been fascinating and it is really fulfilling work," she said. "I've always wanted to do something to alleviate human suffering and heartache and I guess this is it."

If you would like Corrine to help with your problems, write to her in care of Ask the Psychic, Ennis Press, P.O. Box 520, Ennis, Tex. 75119.

Police say 42 diners are playing deaf and dumb in restaurant shooting

Outraged cops investigating the shooting of a man in a crowded restaurant say all 42 diners questioned claimed they didn't see or hear anything!

Authorities in Richmond, Va., said Jeffrey Spragley, 34, was gunned down in a hallway near the restaurant's restrooms. The shooting victim fell to the floor and began to vomit blood — less than two feet from diners!

But no one in the restaurant said they noticed anything unusual.

The flock is still waitin' for God's tornado

By PETE COOKE

For months Pastor M.L. Sims and 11 of his followers have been sitting in church waiting for a prophesied tornado to hit, and he doesn't care how long it takes or what people think.

"We're going to stay here as long as it takes," Sims told The NEWS. "People think we're crazy, that we are crackpots. Well, we are crackpots for Christ."

The bizarre vigil began on January 3 after Sims' wife, Annie, said she got a message from God and passed the prophecy along during a noon prayer service at the church in Gary, Ind.

"The Lord said He was going to send a tornado, and many shall die," Mrs. Sims told members of the Repairer of the Breach Church of God in Christ. "He was going to send His fury and vengeance on the people."

But God didn't say when the killer tornado was coming and Mrs. Sims' best guess was January 5, the day she, her husband and 10 others moved into the church to wait.

When that day passed with no sign of a tornado Mrs. Sims, 58, changed her prediction to January 24, which also passed uneventfully. Since then the preacher and his flock have shied away from specific dates.

Five of the original 17 have left. Two were children ordered out by a judge and a 51-year-old man was ordered to undergo kidney treatment.

Two others, Gary school teacher Rosebell Harris and her 14-year-old daughter, Jeanette, were forced to undergo psychiatric evaluations because their family was concerned about their participation in the vigil. After a psychiatric exam, both were allowed to return to church.

"They felt I was so deeply under the influence of Pastor that we couldn't do our own thinking," said Mrs. Harris. "If I believe something and it's different from what you believe, does that make me insane and you sane?"

"We're very confident of the prophecy," said Sims, 58. "We'll be here when the storm comes and we'll be here when the storm goes."

PASTOR M.L. Sims, his wife Annie, right, and members of the congregation maintain a 24-hour vigil at church.

Faithful will maintain vigil at church until divine twister blows them away!

372,000 miles and going strong — on the same engine

Durable and dependable best describe Jack Borden's 1970 Dodge Dart that hasn't missed a beat in running 372,000 miles in 18 years — with the same motor.

Borden claims a record for original miles on his standing car with the same engine and without a major overhaul.

The Lexington, Mass., businessman said other cars may have logged more miles with rebuilt or replaced engines.

While The Guinness Book of World Records doesn't keep tabs on car life, the Silent Six Club of America does.

The club lists the Dart as among the top old-timers. The silent six engines that powered are considered a "great classic of engineering."

Of 75 cars in the group's "300,000 Miler's Club," Borden's amazing Dart is probably the only one which has had no major work done on its engine.

He paid $2,750 for the car in 1970 and has driven it every day. The valve covers weren't touched until last year when the odometer reached 334,000 miles.

AUTO dealer James Tedford and the '70 Dodge Dart which has been driven 18 years without an engine change.

Borden has never been stopped, but he's very serviceable, and has never even been dropped. "It's a joy to drive."

Health food & positive thinking works wonders

Woman says AIDS victims can heal themselves

A 79-year-old woman says she's discovered the cure for deadly AIDS and it has nothing to do with the fancy drugs, gizmos and other doodads of modern medicine.

"The body is its own self-healer," says Ann Wigmore, head of the Foundation for Physical and Mental Regeneration in Boston, Mass. "I simply show (AIDS sufferers) how they can get their health back so they can cure themselves."

By RAFE KLINGER

Mrs. Wigmore, a widow, doesn't claim to be able to cure AIDS. But she does claim that her program of "living foods," exercise and positive thinking can charge up the body and make it resistant to diseases like AIDS, cancer and other killer illnesses.

The Massachusetts Attorney General's Office has tried to stop Mrs. Wigmore from distributing her book, Overcoming AIDS and Other "Incurable Diseases" the Attractive Way Through Nature.

But a Superior Court ruled that she is free to sell her books.

Additionally, Mrs. Wigmore holds two-week programs on her unorthodox remedies charging from $350 to $500.

Over the past five years, Mrs. Wigmore said she's worked with hundreds of AIDS patients.

"A lot go back to work and are fine," she said.

She believes the body contains all the tools it needs to combat diseases or to repair damage done by illnesses. The problem is that modern foods are loaded with chemicals and most people don't know the correct way to live and maintain their health.

People who are fearful and full of negative thoughts weaken their bodies making themselves easy prey for attacking diseases. Proper diet and attitude can make the body resistant to illness, she said.

The key to Mrs. Wigmore's "living diet" is sprouts from which she makes her "energy soup."

"Your body has to be unhealthy to entertain an infection . . ." Mrs. Wigmore said. "Basically, I teach people how to change their lifestyles and how to take responsibility for their health."

Gramps is a new father — 20 years after being sterilized

By JOE BERGER

Gray-haired granddad Eric A. Marchant has fathered a bouncing baby girl — 20 years after undergoing a successful vasectomy!

"Samantha's my little miracle baby," gushed ecstatic Eric, 57. "She's one of the best things that's ever happened to me.

"And the doctors are delighted, too.

"They say that it's really quite amazing."

The proud pop from Birmingham, England, already had three children by his first marriage when he had himself snipped back in 1968.

"I was perfectly happy with the success until I got divorced and started to regret what I'd done because I knew Brenda really wanted kids of her own. I felt like I was shooting her out of a priceless experience, so I went to the doctor to see if he could undo the bloody operation."

Docs told Eric they'd never reversed a 20-year-old vasectomy before but they'd give it a shot. And within months Brenda learned she was pregnant.

"Now I have the baby I've always dreamed of," said the doting mom, cuddling snoozing Samantha in her arms.

"It's going to be a little strange because she'll be growing up side by side with Eric's granddaughter — and Samantha will be the younger of the two.

"But that's not important. We're just grateful that God gave us this second chance. Our little Samantha will always be the light of our lives."

AMAZING ELECTRIC MAN

The body of a 36-year-old farmer generates so much electricity that he can't touch his wife for fear of knocking her down!

750 volts sizzle through his body!

In fact, tragic Xue Dibo can't touch anyone because the 750 volts that flow from his fingertips are enough to stun and possibly even kill most men.

"I'm a prisoner in my own body — I can't even hug my own wife," Xue said in an interview with the New China News Agency. "My friends and family are terrified that I'll electrocute them by accident. I have begged doctors to find out what is wrong with me and do something to help. I need help!"

Dr. Chang Gee Sun has studied Xue since February and is still baffled by his condition. He told reporters that the peasant was perfectly normal until January, when he began to feel "strange sensations" in his body.

"This is an extraordinary case," said the Beijing-based expert. "This man is generating as much power as the biggest electric cutthroat and eels.

"We know that the source of the power is his nervous system. What we're trying to find out is how he produces it in such quantity. And why."

Nobody wants answers — and a cure — more than Xue's 34-year-old wife, Chiang. Her skin still bears the burn marks and scars her husband accidentally inflicted before he sought treatment from Dr. Chang.

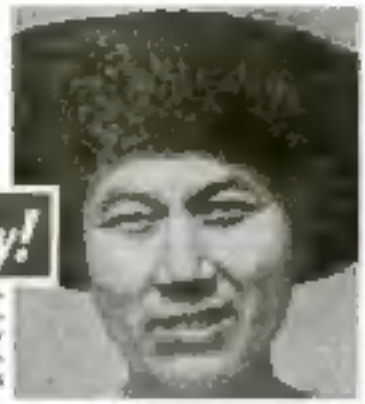
"When Xue touches me it's like jumping into an electric fence," said the woman. "I know he doesn't want to hurt anyone. But I'm afraid he's going to kill someone and I don't want it to be me."

Dr. Chang said it could take months or possibly even years to understand the electrified farmer's problem.

"Enormous strides have been taken but the human nervous system largely remains a mystery," he said.

"Trying to explain why this man generates electricity could be as difficult as explaining the faith healer's ability."

In a related story the New China News Agency noted that Xue's condition, though rare, is not unheard of. Reports from Tibet last year claimed that an electric man was able to stun birds out of the sky simply by pointing at them. He has since died.



"I'M A PRISONER!" says electrified farmer Xue Dibo.

His wife can't even touch him

SCARRED FOR LIFE: Xue's wife Chiang hopes for a cure.

Boy sleeps through wild ride when thief swipes mom's car

A 4-year-old boy was in the backseat of his mom's '88 Volvo when a car thief took him on a wild, high-speed ride — and he slept through the whole thing.

By JACK ALEXANDER

Matthew Cocconi was returned to his frantic mother unharmed after cops in Burlin found the car abandoned several miles from where it was stolen.

"The suspect probably did not know the boy was in the backseat until after he had stolen it," said police officer Brian Larson. "He probably saw the sleeping boy later and said to himself, 'I'm not getting hung for this' and ditched the car."

Little Matthew was dozing in the backseat when his mother, Sandra Cocconi, parked the car and went into a school to get his 6-year-old sister. Unfortunately, she left the keys in the ignition, said cops.

Mrs. Cocconi ran out of the school when she saw her car being driven away. "She freaked," said her hubby, Richard. "She tried to chase the car down and almost made it." Apparently seeing the screaming mother chasing after him, the car thief squeezed the Volvo between two cars at a traffic light and roared away.

Keen-eyed motorist Peter Mueller also saw the distraught mother chasing the Volvo and followed it for several blocks.

Mueller saw where the thief abandoned the car and gave cops the location, plus a description of the bandit. He didn't know the tot was asleep in the backseat, said officer Larson.

Meanwhile, the worried mother had contacted police who also were looking for the car. The two officers who found the car said Matthew was still curled up in the backseat, sound asleep.

LITTLE Matthew Cocconi is picked up for questioning by a cop after car was abandoned with Matthew asleep in it.

Ice bomb hits car!

By JOE BERGER

Startled Charles Reid figures he's lucky to be alive after a giant chunk of ice fell 2,000 feet out of the sky — and smashed his car to smithereens!

The bomb that tore through Reid's car like a humongous ballistope was actually the frozen waste from the toilet of a plane taking off or landing at the nearby Newark Airport, New Jersey, investigators declared.

LUCKY Charles Reid was working overtime when a huge chunk of ice smashed his car. Ordinarily he would have been in the auto at the time the icy bolt fell out of the blue.

Deadly coincidence

In a tragedy that authorities said is a bizarre coincidence, a brother and sister in their 30s died within hours of each other in separate incidents 15 miles apart.

According to police in Flint, Mich., Paula Hillaker, 36, died in her bed after accidently taking an overdose of a prescription drug. Her 38-year-old brother, Jeffrey Madore, died after falling and hitting his head in his bathroom.

They said the chilly missile probably formed when leakage from the commercial jetliner's toilet froze at high altitude and the chunk of ice dropped away to hurtle toward earth.

The 3-foot-square block of ice hit twice in Reid's car in the parking lot of the Lodi, N.J., manufacturing plant where he works — just at the moment the mechanic should have been climbing into the auto to go home.

Fortunately, Reid avoided a run-in with the petty bosses because he'd been asked to work overtime and wasn't around when the ice hit.

"After thinking about what might have happened out there, it's good to be alive," he said.

"It was a close call."

The bad news is that Reid had just put a new $1,400 engine in his prize '79 Ford and the ice from the sky bashed it in bits.

To make matters worse, his insurance doesn't cover frozen human waste crashing down through the roof of his car — so the loss is all his.

FAA officials say it's not unusual for leaky airplane johns to send bolts of ice plunging toward earth but the ice normally evaporates in the atmosphere.

About a dozen times a year, though, someone will complain that one of the toilet torpedoes has ripped through their roof or bombed the lawn.

And because the skies are so full of planes, it's almost impossible to flush out the culprit, investigators say.

HIGHWAY TO HELL

Savage act plunges him into a lifetime of pain

By PETE COOKE

Trucker Richard Carrico was heading south to make a furniture delivery in Miami when a five-pound rock that was thrown at his rig crashed through the windshield and shattered his life.

"The last thing that I remember is something coming through the windshield," said the 44-year-old truck driver from Valencia, Pa.

"I was unconscious, but I got my truck stopped. The next thing I knew was seven days later when I woke up in the hospital."

The random attack that took place on I-95 in Hallandale, Fla., left Carrico with paralyzing headaches, blurred vision and pain in his ears so severe that sometimes he can't hear.

He has undergone two operations and faces more surgery to repair damage to his right eye socket.

It may be two years before Carrico can walk again.

In the meantime he is struggling to hold his family together and seeing a psychiatrist to help him cope with the tragedy.

"I have a real short fuse," Carrico said, but he knows the rock attack has hurt his wife, Sandra, too. "She looks at me now and I see tears come to her eyes," he said.

"It just breaks my heart to see that happen."

At the time of the incident Florida Highway Patrol troopers held out little hope that the culprits would ever be caught.

Then authorities suggested Carrico make a video describing the ordeal he and his family are going through.

After the heartrending video was shown in Hallandale schools, police received an anonymous tip naming three teenagers in the rock-throwing incident. The teens, ages 14, 15 and 16, were arrested on charges of throwing a deadly missile.

Authorities said the 15-year-old admitted he was the one who threw the rock through Carrico's windshield and he doesn't regret it. Prosecutors in Fort Lauderdale said they may file a motion in court to have the teen tried as an adult.

But Carrico said he is willing to forgive, even if he can never forget what has happened to him.

"I feel sorry for the kids," Carrico told The NEWS. "I can't blame the parents. You can't watch a 15-year-old 24 hours a day. If I met the boy face-to-face, I don't know what I would say to him. What can you say?"

Slick con man posed as brain surgeon, say cops

Smooth-talking Dr. Lee Otis Penix drove a $74,000 Porsche, wore Gucci shoes and sported a Rolex watch — but they were only the trappings of one of the slickest con men Chicago cops have ever jailed!

In fact, cops say at the time of his arrest, the 40-year-old phony brain surgeon was being hunted by U.S. marshals, Illinois education officials, collectors from a bank, a swank department store and a jeweler.

And at least three gullible women are trying to figure out how the ruggedly handsome 5-foot-6 one-time petty thief smooth-talked them out of more than $30,000.

"As a con man, on a scale of one to 10, I'd probably rate him 11," said Sgt. John Burke of Chicago P.D.'s Financial Investigation Unit.

Before his last arrest in 1982, Penix had used the identity of a real doctor named Christopher Thorsen and to get a fellowship at three high-class Chicago hospitals where he stole $60,000 in equipment which ended him four years in the slammer.

After his release in 1984, he put "Dr." in front of his own name and became chummy with three professional women who believed he was a doctor. That little mistake cost them a total of $30,000 in cash and gifts.

Cops who spotted a photo of Penix with fellow Cardinal Bernardin Gantin, a Catholic specialist and a top Vatican official, was born in England and a graduate of Annapolis and the Harvard Medical School.

DON'S NOT SCARED OF ME!

Superstar Barbra Streisand says she was swept off her feet by charming Miami Vice dandy Don Johnson because he had the guts to do what most men don't — make the first move.

"He took me by the hand and led me away to talk," recalls Babs of her first meeting with TV's playboy cop.

"He is not just Mr. Tough. He is very gentle, sensitive and nurturing. He has wonderful manners and he can make me laugh."

The 45-year-old superstar says Don got in first [illegible] with her because he wasn't a wimp who was intimidated by her status. And that impressed her.

"Men get scared," Babs explained. "So I don't go out to dinner much and anybody who is frightened of me I don't want to know anyway.

"I can sense the fear immediately and it makes me very uncomfortable. I [illegible] people I have to talk to things first because so many are intimidated by me. They won't come over to me. So if a guy does make the first move, he is already a step ahead."

Word came to movie star Clint Eastwood, Babs has had close relations with ex-Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and producer-beau Brewer Jon Peters. She says her love has ended only a relationship.

"I went to a fight with him (Don) and it was the first time I have enjoyed my celebrity because I wasn't hurrying to apologize to the man for getting all this attention — because he got as much attention as I did."

But the handsome, 37-year-old dashi has also succeeded in adding fun to Babs' life.

"He makes me happy," she sighed. "I have never been very happy so it is something I am learning as if I am a child again.

"It is a new thing and I have to get used to it. . . I never knew what it was to have fun when I was growing up." — London Daily Mail.

Clint Eastwood is very aware of what made him a super duper star and it sure wasn't yapping a bunch of silly dialogue. That's why the former king of the spaghetti westerns mixed a bunch of his lines in his new Dirty Harry flick.

Ted Koppel taught me to kiss, says sexpot

Pals have described hefty Ted Koppel of ABC's Nightline as a dish with a bloody thumb instead.

But Sally Kirkland, the sexy brunette up for an Oscar for her role in Anna, says Ted swept her off her feet when she was a kid.

"I was 12. Ted was 17. I was so much shorter than him.

"Ted was a senior in high school," recalls Sally with a sigh. "He was my first older man."

And while Ted wasn't making news then, the leggy actress says he was teaching her a thing or two about romance.

"Ted Koppel taught me how to kiss and gave me my very first kiss," she says.

"We were in a horse-and-buggy museum in Central Park. I was so terrified that I fell up the floor.

"When Ted went off to Syracuse to study law, I was heartbroken. He promised to write me.

He wanted to be President of the United States. I told him I wanted to be a great actress.

Bright-eyed beauty Ava Fabian arrived in Tinseltown only a year and a half ago and has already made a big splash. The leggy lovely's managed to nab roles in the flicks "Rampage '87," "Whoopee Boys," and "Bikini Fever." Admitting that she'll go a long way, she says, "I'm willing to pose or dress as I have to for a role. I'm not afraid to show my body."

RUSSIANS CLONING ADOLF HITLERS!

HE ALMOST RULED THE WORLD and that's why the Kremlin wants to find out what made Adolf Hitler tick

As many as 600 Adolf Hitlers are alive and well in the Soviet Union, each cloned from a blood-stained handkerchief found in the Fuhrer's pocket after his suicide in 1945!

That's the astonishing claim of Dr. Rudolf Hegenauer, who allegedly helped the Soviets clone these army of Hitlers before he suffered a debilitating stroke last year.

Hitler is alive and his cloned will live for generations to come, said the experts. The Russians have made study of the man a priority.

They want to understand the psychological and neurological makeup of a man who almost ruled the world.

The expert told reporters that Russia's Hitler clones range in age from a month to 18 years. When the difference in their ages is taken into account they are virtually identical, he added. All were born that fall between 500 and 1,000.

They also have artistic ability and a powerful personality although their overall skills are debatable, he said.

"We expected the clones to have most of Hitler's characteristics and indeed because they were created from blood cells contaminated by cigarette smoke," said Dr. Hegenauer. "There are variations, of course because the clones have different environments and life experiences. But they essentially are the same man that led us to the brink of world domination before the end of the Second World War.

Historians disagree about the demise of Hitler but it is generally believed that he committed suicide in a bunker in Berlin before he could be captured by the Allies in 1945.

Dr. Hegenauer said the bloody handkerchief that provided cells for cloning was taken from the dead Fuhrer's right pocket by an aide, who gave it to the Soviets as proof that Hitler had died.

The expert was eager when asked to pinpoint where the Soviets are housing the clones. He did say that they are all incarcerated in a single military installation.

The chance that one or more of them might escape, he added, but "are quite remote.

"Even if a Hitler did get away there is no way he could rise to such heights as the original," he said. "Today's masses would probably laugh at his face.

MIND-BOGGLING MYSTERY: A vintage plane is sitting on the moon, says the boss of a top UFO probe. We have the photos to prove it

WORLD WAR 2 BOMBER FOUND ON THE MOON!

Soviet scientists claim to have found a vintage American warplane on the moon!

Dr Stanislav Makarov said satellite photos of the World War 2 bomber indicate that it has suffered some damage from anti-aircraft fire but is still in one piece!

Air Force insignias are visible on the wings and fuselage, he added. It also appears that the engine plane has greenish fungus — a sign it was crashed with moisture from the sea.

We have photographs showing that the Americans have been there," the expert told reporters. "We can speculate that the plane was piloted by Soviet prisoners who were taken to the moon.

But there is no other explanation. We prefer to stick to the facts and the plane is there."

The official disclosure by the president of the Soviet Union's space agency came after a top-level meeting on finding the airplane on the moon, experts say.

Dr Makarov said the Soviet Union's high-resolution pictures are available — and clearly show the plane lying at the bottom of a crater in a green area. He declined to speculate on the moon.

Sick research has proved what we've all believed for years — bad guys do wear black.

Pro football and hockey teams that wear black uniforms are more aggressive and more likely to be penalized than those that don't.

That's the result of a study by avid sports fans Mark Frank and Thomas Gilovich, who study social behavior.

Their research revealed teams with black uniforms, such as the Los Angeles Raiders, Pittsburgh Steelers and Boston Bruins are consistently likely to rank near the top of their leagues in penalties.

Referees are more likely to penalize teams in black uniforms than those who wear white, said the two researchers.

Pooch power

A Siberian Newfoundland pooch named Moby Dick has no trouble towing his little pals Agnes and Michael Berwick down a country lane near their home in Toronto, Canada. The handsome Newf is a breed well-known for its faithful devotion to people. With a soft expression that reflects intelligence, dignity and its lovable disposition, it is nevertheless a dog with enormous strength, and its natural lifesaving instincts make it an ideal companion for children.

Wife chops hubby's head off!

By PETE COOKE

Cops said a marital spat escalated into a desperate war that ended when Richard Poling was shot to death and decapitated with an axe!

Thomas Altiere, police chief of Howland Township, near Warren, Ohio, said the 33-year-old steel worker's headless corpse was discovered in a ravine along Interstate 75.

"The victim's head was discovered quite a distance from the body," Altiere said. "He had been shot in the head and the head was severed with an axe."

Poling's wife, Mona, was arrested for aggravated murder and jailed on $250,000 bond, while the couple's three children were placed in a foster home.

On the day of Poling's disappearance, his wife told a neighbor that she had a fight with her husband and he left.

Authorities said Poling was never seen alive again.

His corpse was discovered 12 days later by a trucker who was retrieving a tire from the ravine beside the interstate. The police chief said Poling's body was wrapped in bedclothes and curtains and stuffed inside two plastic garbage bags.

"I thought it was a bag of garbage until I saw a foot," said David Weimer, who made the grisly discovery. Delores Dziedzic, who lives across the street from the Polings and baby-sat for the couple's children, said Mrs. Poling, 29, came to her home after identifying the body.

Mrs. Dziedzic said the woman "burst into crying, saying how terrible it was. She just cried and cried for about 15 minutes."

New scheme lets status seekers deck their walls with rented art

Status-minded Italians who can't afford to buy an artistic masterpiece to impress people can do it on the installment plan — by renting one.

Van Dyck and Veronese are among the masters whose paintings are available to rent for up to $44,500 a month.

My love 'em and leave 'em biker left me eatin' dust

Dear Dotti: About a year ago I met a handsome biker who was just passing through town. We spent the best weekend of my life together. We swore to write each other as the night he left that we couldn't live in touch. Since then I have gotten a short letter a picture of his motorcycle and a telephone call from him.

Given after our bearing from him for a year. I still think about those wild riders. My feelings for him are so strong and so like they were together.

I have tried to date other guys but it doesn't seem to work — they're so boring! And every time I almost get my biker out of my mind, something happens to make me remember him all over again.

I still wonder if he thought of me as anything but something to do with his lost — as I'm a little to old myself — and I forgot to tell him that I loved him.

Could you please help me out here? — Confused Angel, Pacific Grove, Calif.

Dear Confused Angel: Don't you mean you've made big plans to go to the movies but this guy you met and really like hasn't called for a date?

How do I muzzle a loudmouth?

Dear Dotti: I'm a person who suffers from nervous stomach, hypertension and stress. I would like to know if you have a diplomatic way to tell someone not to talk so much about their kids to you.

I try not to talk to this one member of my family too often because he's so obnoxious regarding to me. He may not mean to, but the attention was for talks about all the kids' activities. He proud. He does not speak to any friends in such a snappy manner as he is to me. Affirmative or not? Is it because I am a member of the family?

I am afraid he'll go upset my stomach all over them. I'll land in the early grave and I'm really 'll years of age. — Sincerely, Irritable Stomach, Pennsylvania

Dear Irritable Stomach: Just say, "Hey, I have a headache. Please don't talk right now." Then politely change the subject.

Widower puts home over romance

Dear Dotti: My wife has been dead for what seems like years and I've been going with a very nice lady. I'm years of age. I am 70 myself but we both look at least 10 years younger!

We love each other and want to get married, but she wants to stay in her home and I want her to come live with me in a more modern home. But neither of us will budge.

Do you think I'm selfish? I'm willing to sell my home and buy her a new one. But she says she doesn't want to move. What do you suggest? — Sad & Lonely Widower

Dear Sad & Lonely: This gal would be lucky to get you. Don't be so selfish. Sell your home and buy her a new one. But she says she doesn't want to move. What do you suggest? — Sad & Lonely Widower

My big trouble with a little flirt

Dear Dotti: I have this pal a lot but he has a girlfriend. Every time I see him he makes love to me and he wants me behind his girlfriend's back. I tell him nothing can come between us but he still keeps on trying.

My problem is that I don't want to get in the middle of two girls and his girlfriend has been mean to me. What do you suggest? — Sad & Lonely Widower

Dear Sad & Lonely: This guy is no good. Don't have anything to do with him. Tell him to stay in his own corner and I suggest you find a nice guy to go with. Get busy on that and you'll soon forget about him.

Heartbroken mom's waiting for okay

Dear Dotti: Two weeks after marrying I gave birth to my first daughter. After 11 months of trying to raise her myself, I gave her up for adoption.

I'll be 23 next month and the last three years have been hell. There is not one day that goes by that I don't think of my little girl.

I wish the best for her and I pray that God will be kind to her and give her everything that I never would have been able to.

I know that she is well provided for and that is the only thing that keeps me from going crazy. The adoptive parents are very fine people.

There was no one for me and I was sad.

I didn't think my daughter, at one week old, would be a good girl. But I gave her the chance to be a good kid.

It was the hardest decision I ever had.

I am asking this and all real readers out to think hard of mothers who have to give up their babies. I pray that some day my daughter will want to meet me and then I can explain to her my decision. — Birth Right Mom, San Francisco

Dear Birth Right Mom: With real love people can do almost anything. I'm sure you're going to have a great life. Keep your heart of yearning and heartbreak by arranging some way that your daughter can be given your address. Then she can write to you — when she is old enough to understand. I'm sure she'll thank you for being such a caring, selfless mom.

Confidential

Dear Dotti: Trouble in the family. Do you still have those x-ray machines that shrink fats — so I won't lose because just one of those five-year-olds is on a diet?

Dear Lonely: I am a female in the state of Illinois. Married. Woman, that does John fried chicken.

Dear Lonely: I'm afraid not. The only possible trouble with strangers is that you never know what's in their minds.

Dear Married: I'm happy to hear that you're pregnant. Enjoy the pain and I hope you're not in pain.

Creep tells family to take a flying leap

Editors: I read the story about the guy who refused to donate bone marrow to his dying brother until he got paid for it — and it seems to me you people are making a big deal about nothing.

I don't think I'm particularly cruel or heartless, but I wouldn't give up my bone marrow — or any other part of my body, for that matter — to a member of my family or anybody else without some kind of compensation.

In fact, it seems to me that $3,000 is pretty cheap.

I love my family but donating bone marrow or a kidney or the like can be very dangerous and the donor is entitled to be paid for the risk and the pain.

Sad-sack Casanova is a sweet-talking swindler, say cops

He looks like a jowly, middle-aged sad sack, but authorities across the country believe Lee J. Sawaya is a superstar con man whose delightful charm and flashy razzle-dazzle enabled him to flimflam victims out of millions.

When the high-rolling Sawaya was finally arrested at a supper party with his new wife in a swanky restaurant, he was carrying $5,000 in $100 bills in his pocket, said San Francisco police inspector Gary Jiminez, one of the arresting officers. And police said they found another $20,000 in cash in his clothes at home.

Marin County authorities are holding him without bail on three charges of grand theft. He faces three charges of grand theft in San Francisco, said Jiminez.

Then there are the federal warrants for stealing $2 million from investors in Texas, and Jiminez, as well as warrants from at least three other states.

Shortly before his arrests, Sawaya had romanced an attractive, successful real estate broker in her 40s off her feet and persuaded her to marry him.

Jiminez believes Sawaya was to the point of plans to take her over with for everything she had.

"He convinced her he'd got buy an auto dealer," said Jiminez. "He's a very talented man. He spoke five languages and was an accomplished pianist and gourmet cook. And he's very charming."

Jiminez said he talked to one widow who claimed the smooth talking confidence man took her for her entire savings of $60,000. He also heard talk that the expert con did so much, he once blew $3 million at the tables in Atlantic City.

Sawaya, who also used the names Franklin Rossi, Joseph Azar and Anthony J. Lamana, is allegedly left a trail of fleeced victims across the country, according to Jiminez. He has a spotted matrimonial past, going all the way back to 1969 when he married a woman in Las Vegas, Nev., and then disappeared without bothering to get a divorce.

Lee J. Sawaya

Sawaya allegedly bilked his second wife out of $100,000 before disappearing, leaving her with $30,000 in debts, according to Jiminez.

Sawaya, who is being held in lieu of $1 million bail, is also wanted in Texas for allegedly bilking investors out of $2 million in a fraudulent oil deal, Jiminez said.

Sawaya's current wife, Jiminez said, is also a victim of Sawaya's charm. She is reportedly pregnant with Sawaya's child.

Jiminez said Sawaya was also wanted in Florida for allegedly bilking investors out of $1 million in a fraudulent land deal.

Jiminez said Sawaya was also wanted in Florida for allegedly bilking investors out of $1 million in a fraudulent land deal.

According to Sawaya's current wife, "He was not that attractive. He was short and overweight, but he had a way about him. He was charming and he seemed to be sensitive and concerned about people."

Bizarre disease gives fearless sailor her greatest challenge

'My battle against the living death'

By ROSE CHADY

Sailor Clare Francis once battled howling gales and mountainous seas in a single-handed voyage around the world. Today, she's adrift in uncharted waters — a struggle to survive a rare disease dubbed "the living death."

The heroic 41-year-old English voyager is stricken with ME — myalgic encephalomyelitis — a horrifying affliction that is quickly draining every ounce of energy from her body.

"I've been scared witless in terrible storms at sea," the once-adrenal lady of adventure said from her home in London. "But the terror I felt then is nothing compared to the horror of this nightmare illness.

"Victims of ME say they have been to hell and back with this illness. And I know it's true. I've been there as well."

Clare's nightmare began in November 1984. Though she thought she had come down with the flu, she nevertheless decided to take her daily jog. But less than a block from her house, she collapsed in the street.

"My legs just buckled underneath me," she explained. "I managed to drag myself home, crawled into bed, and stayed there — for two months.

"My limbs felt like lead. I became so weak I wouldn't even climb the stairs, walk around the room or even brush my hair. Playing with my 9-year-old son was totally impossible.

"I felt as though I was in a fog. I couldn't even speak properly.

A string of doctors and "experts" brought her no help and no cure. Finally, she read a newspaper story about ME and recognized the symptoms immediately.

She contacted the British ME Association which put her into a self-help group.

"The real problem is that there is no conventional treatment," she said. "All you can do is try to manage the disease with rest and vitamin and mineral therapy."

Her first bout with ME lasted for three months. Then she reached a "plateau" where she didn't improve. Though she now feels better, she knows she can have a relapse at any time.

Clare, however, struggles to make her life worthwhile.

She has written a book on her sea adventures and keeps in close contact with other ME victims.

She even keeps a "tragedy file" of letters from the parents of young ME sufferers who have committed suicide.

"I'm an optimist at heart," she said.

"I know I could be like that [illegible] again. But I am not going to let this illness beat me."

JUDGE'S GAVEL STOLEN

Seems like nothing's safe or sacred anymore — not even a judge's gavel or his courtroom!

Fresno, Calif., Municipal Judge Carl P. Evans used to leave his gavel lying on his bench in the courtroom. After all, it would be safe there, right?

Wrong! It was stolen.

When the thief tried to sell it to a thrift shop, the owner mentioned that he thought the gavel was hot and the thief dropped it and took to his heels.

Well, Judge Evans got his gavel back and he was happy about that because his mother had given it to him.

But now he keeps the gavel at home. It will be a lot safer there . . . right?

Dwarf gobbles 46 apples in 1 hour

By LAUREL BOWIE

Pint-size circus dwarf Devon Smith has staked a claim to a world pig-out record — by wolfing down 46 juicy, jumbo apples in just over an hour.

"I could burst. I think I'm going to explode," the stuffed runt told reporters between belches.

"If this isn't a record, I give up. I don't know if I'll ever be able to look an apple in the eye again."

Dimi-sized Devon — weighing in at 31 pounds — gobbled the Granny Smiths as a publicity stunt during a world fruit and vegetable association get-together in Sydney, Australia. And moments after the pooped pip-squeak had flipped his final core over his shoulder, great-grandma Jessica Hall pulled up a chair and polished off 31 prunes in seven minutes.

"I'll see you later. I've got to run," Jessica, 73, joked after her gravalous performance.

The geezer granny said she set out in search of the prune-champing record because her hubby Horace dared her to. "I love prunes — or at least I used to — so I figured

Drive-in banking

Driving granny Mattie Jones crashed her car drive-in banking window when she mistook her car through the front entrance of a bank in Pine Bluff, Ark. The 67-year-old woman said the accident occurred when she hit the gas by mistake when she was trying to park her car. No one was hurt, cops said.

Judge orders Siamese twins separated in custody fight

...even though it will probably kill them!

By HENRY WEBB

A judge has ordered the separation of Siamese twins to settle a custody dispute — even though the operation could kill them!

"This is what the parents want, this is what the parents get," Judge Mano Boodrak told reporters in Ratchaburi, Thailand. "I am not the villain here, they are," he continued.

"Their divorce is almost final — and a decision will solve everything and each one wants custody of the child. The 10-month-old twins are joined at the head and the children ... there's a single brain.

"Giving one to each is the only solution."

Even if the twins did live through surgery, doctors say guarantee that Judge Boodrak's decision would be implemented and face grave physical problems, such as paralysis as well.

But Prasaro Chaleran, their 40-year-old father, said he would rather see the twins dead and buried than to see them alive and living with their mother.

"She can't fit to raise normal children, much less those that are handicapped," he said.

"She'll get them over my dead body."

Under Thai law, the state would pay to separate the twins since a judge ordered the surgery. The operation is tentatively scheduled for June 20 and will proceed as planned unless the parents themselves agree to share custody information.

"This has been the hardest decision I've ever had to make," said the judge.

"I just hope innocent children don't die because of it."

Granny's a real scoutmaster now

Feisty grandma Catherine Pollard battled stupid sexist Boy Scout rules for 14 years to become a legit scoutmaster — until she finally won.

By JACK ALEXANDER

After more than 70 years, the Boy Scouts of America has changed its policy and now allows women to be scoutmasters.

"I welcome them into the 20th century," said the 69-year-old widow from Milford, Conn. "It's a step that has been long overdue."

Mrs. Pollard's fight to become a scoutmaster was hampered from the start. Her credentials was turned down even though she had been a successful "under the table" scoutmaster for five years.

"They're finally realized women can be role models for boys, which like many mothers are to their sons," she said.

Miracles worked by banned drug!

Doctors have found a drug that appears to help seriously ill leukemia patients defeat their disease — the banned drug thalidomide, which caused thousands of birth defects in the 1960s.

Physicians in Birmingham, England, say they used the drug as a last-chance treatment for a patient who had failed to respond to other treatments. The man made a miraculous recovery and is now leading a normal life, they said.

"We weren't sure the treatment would work but if we hadn't taken the gamble the man would have died," said Dr Seah Lim, who treated the unidentified man. Dr Lim said that thalidomide had immune-suppressive properties that helped the man accept treatments. The man made a [illegible]

Cops: [redacted] burglars invited their arrest

Three bumbling burglars were arrested, police said, after a cop knocked on the door of the house they were burglarizing — and the dumbo crooks answered the door.

The luckless lowlifes also made two other boo-boos, cops in Methuen, Mass., said. They'...

showed up in a car stolen The suspects' troubles began from a judge — and broke when Police Sgt. Blue Sadinto the home of a police- dour and his son happened to man's future daughter-in-law drive by the house where the son's fiancee lives.

The Sadducee noticed a strange car in the driveway and stopped to investigate.

When the lawman and his son knocked on the door, the burglars answered it — then slammed the door and fled.

One of the men was captured inside the house and two others were nabbed after a chase through a nearby woods.

Police said the crooks, all teenagers, had arrived at the house in a car stolen from a local judge.

UFO fleet poised to end Persian Gulf war

CITY OF MAR: The population of Doha is alarmed by the staggering number of UFO sightings, says an eyewitness, inset

Stunned scientists [redacted] 52 sightings over battle-weary Arab lands

A rash of UFO sightings over the Persian Gulf could mean that space aliens are joining the foreign military buildup [redacted] the troubled region, a leading expert warns.

"This is a most alarming development," Dr Catherine Riont, a physicist with a keen interest in UFOs, told reporters in Bern, Switzerland.

Are starships armed?

"With the militaries of the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union already well represented in the region, the last thing we need is another power trying to exert control."

The expert sounded the alarm in the wake of 52 UFO sightings in the region since December alone. Although most of those were over Kuwait, Iran, Iraq and Saudia Arabia, the latest have been in the vicinity of warships in the Gulf and off the peninsula of Qatar.

The tiny country juts into the Gulf and shares a border with Saudi Arabia. Thousands of objects reported witnessed the most recent UFO display when a bright light zig-zagged across the sky for more than three hours.

The official Qatar News Agency said the spaceship emitted a low humming sound and constantly changed colors before it vanished over the horizon in the dark night sky.

Neither the United States nor the Soviet Union have been willing to discuss the sightings even though intelligence sources in both countries say the situation is being watched closely from the highest levels of government.

Dr Riont said there is no evidence to suggest that space ships monitoring the gulf are armed — but that doesn't mean they are not dangerous.

"We certainly don't want to plunge the world into a panic but we should be wary," she said. "We have to assume that a civilization that developed flying saucers is vastly superior to us technologically. If they decided to use force it would put us in a helpless position."

Pearl-plucking parrot drives pet shop [redacted] poorhouse

School fights pesky birds by blasting highbrow tunes

Bouquet bomb lands big shot behind bars

A millionaire was sentenced to 15 years in prison for trying to kill his estranged wife — with a bomb disguised as a bouquet of flowers.

Peter Pitsios, 54, had denied responsibility for bombing that injured his wife Melanie, 32, and a co-worker.

The jury, however, was fooled by his breaches of unusual outrage following in the bombing. He had his homosexual lover drop off the booby-trapped bouquet while his wife worked.

Cops investigating the bizarre death of a 12-year-old boy say he died while taking a shower — in an automatic dishwasher

Water was still running in the dishwasher when [illegible] Jean Grand opened the door and found the body of her son Michael.

"The boy's upside down, he crawled in the dishwasher to take a bath. I think he could get out if the water got too hot," said Hunterdon County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Perry.

How to be a TV preacher — and make big buck$

Penny-ante publishers from Puerto Rico to Paris are rushing in on the evangelical scene with an avalanche of self-help books — telling folks all they need to know to become blow-dried, Bible-thumping TV preachers.

By LAURIE BOWIE

These often hasty books spell titles like How You Can Be a TV Evangelist — and Make Millions of Dollars a Year! and Get Rich Quick by Preaching the Gospel on TV.

"These silly things are all over the place," said Paris bookstore manager Maurice Rivet.

"There must be a dozen titles around and believe it or not, they're selling like hot-cakes. I don't know what kind of person buys them, but they don't stay on the racks long."

Because the books are hard to come by in the country we've plucked out a few of the choicest tips and points of wisdom for would-be TV preachers and we offer them to our readers here:

● Before you preach a single sermon, open a Swiss bank account. You're going to need it.

● Study the Bible. Some of your flock will think you're a saint.

● Be certain that there are plenty sharp and fast ways to part you from your hard-earned money.

● Write nothing that doesn't sell — and keep that in mind. Nobody's going to be fooled a preacher on television knows.

● Keep reading the Bible. If it doesn't say exactly what you want to get it down pat, you can always find another passage.

● Figure on tears at every turn. Cry when you beg for money. It'll boost contributions 30 percent. And cry if you get in trouble. The good-natured will forgive you as an upstart.

● Buy your wife pearls by the bushel. Nothing looks more impressive on a preacher's wife than pearls.

● Keep that hair blow-dried. It'll give you the holy look.

● Maybe most important of all: talk anything you can get your hands on. Buy it, stamp your name on it, mark it up — and sell, sell, sell!

FOREIGN publishers are rushing in on the publicity surrounding highflown TV preachers like Jimmy Swaggart.

Kissin' champs scare off competition

A couple who kissed for 46½ hours to win last year's Great Dallas Kissoff was prepared to pack for an entry week to win again, but reacted to victory when their closest competition crumbled in less than 8 hours.

Peter Petchetti, 30, and his 28-year-old wife, Maryellen, walked off with a Jamaican vacation as first prize when the only other remaining couple in the kissing marathon had to quit to relieve their baby-sitter after just 6¼ hours.

Officials said none of the 14 couples who registered for the contest dropped out when they heard the Petchettis were willing to spend a full week kissing in order to win the contest.

She'll still blowing her own horn. Edna White gave her last concert at Carnegie Hall [illegible] years ago. She [illegible] her [illegible] years at 7 and graduated from Juilliard at 15.

Darn tootin' — granny, 97, is musical genius

■ JACK ALEXANDER

Trumpet-tooting granny Edna White hopes she lives to be 99 in two short years so she can play at Carnegie Hall — on the 90th anniversary of her first concert there.

Mrs. White, 91, of Green Field, Mass., has been belting out music since the day her dad put a cornet in her hands in 1906.

He showed her how to work the valves and ran her through the scale of C before going to work.

"When he came home that night, I was playing every song I knew — all in the key of C," said the amazing horn player.

The child prodigy walked onto the stage of Carnegie Hall at the age of 8 and played a solo piece by Handel in 1909, she made another appearance with her trumpet at the famous concert hall at 15.

The dazzling young musician enrolled in the old Juilliard Institute of Musical Art and graduated at 15.

She didn't get a bachelor's degree because she wasn't old enough. You had to be at least 16 in those days to get a degree from Juilliard.

Eighty years later, her nieces and nephews petitioned the school for her diploma. It hangs on her apartment wall today.

Besides twisting her own horn in a musical way, the ex-jazz clarinet swinger writing poetry, composes music and has written and published a book.

"People start out young, like kindergarten pupils. Then they grow, they learn, they graduate, right?" she asked. "That's what you become you. Not just a contributor. But our society says when you're just ready to graduate, life instead you should retire.

"For people to retire at 65 is insane. That's just about the age you're finally learned what you want to know to live well.

"I want to live two more years until 1999. That's the 100th anniversary of Carnegie Hall. They want to invite me out on the stage as the oldest living soloist who ever played there."

Dead psychic's hubby is trying to reach her in eternity to ask:

Hey, Doris! Where did you stash the cash?

But so far seer's spirit isn't telling where she hid the fortune she made

By SUSAN MADISON

"Where did you stash the cash, Doris?"

That's the question grieving hubby John Stokes is trying to ask his dead wife, famed psychic Doris Stokes, who amassed a fortune during her lifetime.

Since Doris died last year, her frantic 66-year-old husband has consulted eight psychics, begging them to communicate with his wife. He and the couple's son Terry were left only $250 in Doris' will, and he wants to know what she did with the $350,000 she earned conducting seances.

Although one of the mediums finally succeeded in breaking through to the "Other Side," Doris' spirit wasn't willing to reveal the whereabouts of the loot.

"There is money," quipped the ghost of Doris, who died of cancer in London after a lingering illness. "But don't try to find it. Leave it where it is. Let it ride. Leave it where it will make some one rich."

"I can tell you this, though. The money is in the Channel Islands. I didn't put it there."

Doris, who died at 66, spent years helping others reach loved ones in the Great Beyond. She earned as much as $3,000 a night for this service and gathered a host of fans and followers.

Naturally, her husband and her 44-year-old son thought she'd stashed away a tidy nest egg.

Imagine their surprise, then when the will was read out by Doris' lawyers and there was only enough to cover funeral expenses and debts!

Disappointed, John and Terry immediately set out to find out what had happened to their inheritance. They searched Doris' papers but could find no trace of the missing money.

Finally, they realized that there was only one way to find out where it was — they knew they had to ask Doris herself. With the help of Merrilyn Seddon of Lancashire, England, they finally made a breakthrough. But what they heard didn't help them much.

Doris' message to John was a dead end, and her message to her son Terry was just as secretive.

"Let it pass, son," she advised her only child. "You'll never trace it."

John and Terry are convinced that there's a bundle out there if only they can convince Doris to tell them where.

But others think the multifamily medium blew it before she died.

"She gave most of her money to charity," said her ex-manager Laurie O'Leary.

"Her family has always been convinced there is a

Vest saves cop woman shot 'as an example'

By PETE COOKE

A policeman was thanking his lucky stars and his bulletproof vest after he stopped to help a motorist who later said she parked in an intersection waiting to shoot the first cop she spotted.

Authorities in Arlington, Tex., said Officer Buddy Evans, a 28-year-old rookie, by blocking an intersection.

"Officer Evans pulled up behind the vehicle and put his emergency lights on," said police spokesman Dee Anderson. "Officer Evans thought the car was disabled and got out to help."

Anderson told The NEWS that the only occupant of the car was a woman sitting on the front passenger seat. Evans approached the car, walking from the driver's side around turned and smiled and then shot the officer through the open window," Anderson said.

The .38-caliber slug fired from a distance of about five feet hit Evans in the chest, but did not penetrate his bullet-proof vest.

Evans and a second officer who arrived on the scene managed to disarm the woman and place her under arrest, Anderson said.

The woman, 35-year-old [illegible] charged with capital murder. "She has given us information that she was premeditated," Anderson said. "She was driving around looking for a police officer to shoot for some time, then she decided to stop and let the officer come to her."

"She thought by shooting a policeman and being put in jail she would be an example to other people not to do it," said Anderson.

Evans was released at Ar-

New Brighton strawberry is the first of a new type of perpetual-bearing strawberries glibly called day-neutrals by scientific name meaning unaffected by day length. They even continue their non-stop production in temperatures up to 85 degrees, and will keep on bearing during winter when taken indoors.

New Breakthrough in Strawberries

Developed by plant scientists at the University of California, from a single plant discovered near Salt Lake City, Utah, Brighton requires no special care to start bearing loads of fruit continuously. Each plant is so eager to bear fruit it starts flowering and fruiting within 60 days. I survived a heart-pounding plunge over a waterfall — then . . .

Eek! A hungry croc almost had me for dinner

Josephine Browning thought the worst was over after she survived the 40-foot plunge over a roaring waterfall that shattered her hip — until she saw the snapping jaws of the giant crocodile.

"I was so frightened my throat constricted with fear and I began to choke," said the 24-year-old woman from Harare, Zimbabwe in South Africa.

"I literally became paralyzed with fright. Luckily it only lasted a moment. I forced myself to start swimming for safety."

The petite natural woman began swimming frantically for the riverbank some 50 yards away. Behind her and gaining on her fast was a 20-foot croc, its lethal jaws open, ready to feast.

"I don't know how Josephine found the strength to make it," said friend Steven Burgess. "We were screaming for her to swim. With every stroke of her arms she was inches closer."

Josephine's nightmare ordeal began moments after Sue Stevens, Brian McDonough, 28, and two visiting friends from London were taking a cultural cruise safari down the Zambezi River that borders Zimbabwe and Zambia.

The river is famous for its spectacular scenery, abundant wildlife and for the Victoria Falls bridge, a huge steel construction which spans the gorge below the falls.

The seven-hour trip was going smoothly when the group stopped for a refreshing dip. A small rock pool formed off the river. Without warning, a huge hippopotamus emerged from the water, scattering the frolicking friends, pelting them with a curtain of water. The startled hippo had already bumped a rubber dinghy full of water carrying Josephine and Brian. Josephine's head was nearly dazed when she realized the hippo was making a beeline toward the swimming hole.

The seven-some Josephine, Steven and Bryan — hitting them out of the pool and sending them into the river and over the Zambezi's spectacular waterfalls. The two men were thrown and bruised but otherwise unhurt.

But Josephine's ordeal was almost problem-free when she plunged 40 feet into boiling water below the treacherous river's surface.

Josephine found herself completely engulfed and nearly blinded with pain — but no longer paralyzed by shock. Despite excruciating pain, she bravely began her swim. The seven-foot monster glided toward the frantic, struggling girl. Its jaws locked on the water through the slits in its rotary fins.

Terrified, Josephine screamed and closed in a desperate effort to escape the crocodile's powerful jaws.

"Though she was hurt, I said Steven. "I was delighted she was making her attempt."

But Josephine felt a sharp pain in her leg, stopping to scream as the beast dragged the dead weight of her crippled leg. By then she reached the steep, cliff bank and managed to grab hold of a tree root. Unable to reach her, the monster gave up its pursuit and Josephine managed to pull herself out of the water.

"Really, none of us could have dreamed it if it had started to crawl up on land after her," said Brian. "We were lucky to survive."

The friends managed to retrieve their canoes and paddle and take Josephine ashore, where she was helicoptered to a hospital.

She is expected to be in traction for several months. Though she knows she'll never go swimming again.

Pothole repairs cost couple their $1,500 dream vacation

By RAPI KLINGER

Milfed Kay and Jack McGlinchey want city highwigs to pay them $1,544 for the dream cruise they missed because a road repair crew tied up traffic making the couple late for their plane.

The happy McGlincheys were on their way to New York's Kennedy Airport and their vacation of a lifetime — a South American cruise — when all of a sudden traffic on the George Washington Bridge stopped.

A Port Authority road crew was making an emergency repair on a pothole. "It's totally unfair," assured McGlinchey, a 48-year-old plant manager from Hackensack, N.J. "Only in New York can something like this happen."

Normally the authority publishes the times and locations for repairs to motorists can plan alternate routes, said Port Authority spokesman Arthur Arrastia.

"This situation was highly unusual. The pothole developed and it had to be repaired," he said.

The [illegible] left for the airport three hours before their flight was to take off.

"We got 100 feet from the toll booth on the upper level of the bridge and got stuck for two hours and 25 minutes," he said.

Unfortunately, the McGlincheys' airline tickets were nonrefundable and they forfeit themselves out of a vacation and more than $1,500.

McGlinchey has written the Port Authority demanding to be repaid for the damage their emergency pothole repair caused.

Arrastia said the authority's claims department is investigating McGlinchey's claim.

"It's really a highly unusual situation," he said. "We have no procedure for dealing with it."

BROCHURE shows woman how the repairman quit Jack and Kay McGlinchey were rendered beaten of a pothole.

Small Company's New Golf Ball Flies Too Far; Could Obsolete Many Golf Courses

Pro Hits 400-Yard Tee Shots During Test

Want To Shoot An Eagle or Two?

By Mike Hanson

MERIDEN, CT — A small golf [illegible] in Connecticut has created a new, super ball that flies like a U-2, putts with the steady roll of a cue ball and bites the green on approach shots like a dropped cat. But don't look for it on weekend TV. Long-hitting pros could make a joke out of some of golf's finest courses with it. One pro who tested the ball drove it 400 yards, reaching the green on all but the longest par-fours. Scientific tests by an independent lab using a hitting machine prove the ball out-distances all major brands dramatically.

The ball's extraordinary distance comes partly from a revolutionary new dimple design that keeps the ball aloft longer. But there's also a secret change in the core that makes it rise faster off the clubhead. Another change reduces air drag. The result is a ball that gains altitude quickly, then sails like a glider. None of the changes is noticeable in the ball itself.

Despite this extraordinary performance the company has a problem. A spokesman put it this way: "In golf you need endorsements and TV publicity. This is what gets you in the pro shops and stores where 95% of all golf prod[illegible] sold. Unless the pros use your ball on TV, you're virtu[illegible] too expensive to buy on your own, at least fo[illegible].

"Now, you've seen how far this ball can fly. Can you imagine a pro using it on TV and [illegible] par-fours? It would turn the course into a par-three, and real men don't play par-three's. This new fly-power forces us to sell it without relying on pros or pro-shops. One way is to sell it direct from our plant. That way we can keep the name printed on the [illegible] a secret that only a buyer would know. There's more to golf than tourna[illegible] you know."

The company guaran[illegible] a golfer a prompt [illegible] if the new ball doesn't cut five to ten strokes off his or her average score. Simply return the balls — new or used — to the address below. "No one else would dare do that," boasted the company's director.

If you would like an eagle or two, here's your best chance yet. Write your name and address and "Code Name S" (the ball's R&D name) on a piece of paper and send it along with a check (or your credit card number and expiration date) to National Golf Center (Dept. H-696), 500 S. Broad St., Meriden, CT 06450. Or phone 203-238-2712, 9-5 Eastern time. No P.O. boxes, all shipments are UPS. One dozen "S" balls cost $21.95 (plus $1.95 shipping), two to five dozen are only $19.50 each, six dozen are only $99.00. You save $43.00 ordering six. Cops say gramps killed girlfriend with sofa bed

By JACK ALEXANDER

A kindly 74-year-old man was arrested after cops said he killed his elderly girlfriend — by stuffing her into a foldup sofa bed.

An autopsy will determine whether Jean Beres, 67, died of a heart attack or suffocation after being trapped in the bed for several minutes.

The surprising arrest of Milton Eberens, 74, in her bizarre death sent shock waves around a New York City neighborhood where the well-liked retiree was known as kindhearted "Uncle Milton."

Eberens rushed to a terrified neighbor's apartment saying his live-in lover was trapped in the sofa bed, according to cops.

By the time Eberens and neighbor Bela Kurtly were able to reopen the bed, Mrs. Beres had died, said a police spokesman.

Stunned neighbors said Eberens uses a walker and rarely was seen outside.

But he was known and loved by almost everyone in the neighborhood.

"He was a dull, a nice, gentle man, a great-grandfatherly figure," said a woman who has known Eberens for five years.

"One time he gave my mother $10 and told her to buy ice cream for the kids.

"He would always greet you with a 'Hi, sweetheart,'" she said.

Neighbor Johnathan Pilgrim said the old man was called "Uncle Milton" because he was so nice and congenial.

"He would hold the door open for you, chivalrously," she said.

But close neighbors said they often heard loud shouting matches between Eberens and the woman inside his apartment. Eberens was calling her names and "threatening to kill her," cops said one neighbor told them.

Eberens has been arrested but a grand jury has not made any charges.

Hero kid holds on to save girl's life!

By ALEX JACKSON

Tiny Casey Bradford might be lying dead at the bottom of an abandoned well if not for her heroic 6-year-old cousin — who held her by the arm until help came.

Incredibly quick action by spunky Sean Kingsley averted a tragedy in the snow-covered backyard of their grandma's home in Wappingers Falls, N.Y.

"Sean's the one who saved my life," said Casey, 3, as she hugged her waiting hero.

The youngsters were having a playful snowball fight when Casey slipped and fell through a foot of snow-covered cardboard to talk about his heroics. He did pose for pictures with Casey, who is half his age but weighs 25 pounds.

"I think he's a hero," said grandma Bradford.

"He's always been a pretty dependable guy. He loves his cousins. They're all girls, and he's always been there for them — just keeping an eye out for them."

Sean grabbed her by the wrist and held on tight for several minutes until their grandmother heard his screams.

Grandma Rita Bradford ran outside and saw the brave little boy sprawled on his stomach in the snow with his arm outstretched. But she couldn't see her granddaughter.

"Where's Casey? Where's Casey?" she yelled. Then she saw the little

Heroic housewife stops ■ suicide!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Kevin Slagg tried to kill himself, but he didn't succeed — because Hope entered his life and saved him.

Mother of three Hope Phillips, 36, saw 25-year-old Kevin drive his car into the Mississippi River near her home in Memphis, Tenn., and immediately went to his rescue. The heroic housewife pulled 6-foot-1 Kevin from his sinking car and dragged him out of the muddy water.

"When I hit the water I changed my mind — and then there was Hope!" Kevin told The NEWS. "She just swam out to me, put a leg out for me to grab and pulled me in."

"While we were waiting for an ambulance she cried the whole time she was so happy she got me out of that river."

Kevin ... he was feeling despondent after a fracture in the dental school he attends made dispatching cockroaches almost impossible. Hope met Kevin while her family was at a car parked by the river where he made his desperate dash for death.

and has not taken it rejected, Kevin's car sped down a ramp, splashed straight into the river and began to sink. "It's a deer, not a shadow," Hope told The NEWS. "I was thinking, 'I can't believe this guy is going under.' All three of us ran to the river. Lee went to get a rope and I went in after Kevin."

"He had opened the car door and water gushed in. He reached up on the door and was the top of the car screaming. I'm worthless. I'm worthless. I grabbed a 10-foot long tag and I was yelling at him to hold on and not let go. Kevin had already gone under a couple of times."

Hope kept the tag near Kevin so he could grab it and slowly pulled him back to shore. Her husband caught him by the back of his coat and pulled him out of the water.

Kevin looked up at Hope and said, "What is your name?"

"My name is Hope." the heroic mom said.

"Isn't that a good thing to hear right now?" Lee asked Kevin.

"It sure is," the young man answered.

Murder plot to avenge dad's honor

By PETE COOKE

Outraged over their teenage daughter's decision to run off with her cousin, a vengeful doctor and his wife ordered the murder and mutilation of their son-in-law and his family, authorities said.

Dr. Saud Tarawneh and his wife, Dhuda, were arrested in Toledo, Ohio, and held for extradition to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where their 19-year-old daughter and her husband live.

Agent Mike Breece, of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, said Dr. Tarawneh, an obstetrician and gynecologist who studied medicine in his native Jordan, became furious when his daughter refused to go through with a marriage he had arranged.

"That violated the Tarawneh family customs," Breece said. "They still follow the old customs and this made it appear that the father had lost control over his daughter. It was a grievous insult and became an obsession."

Breece said the family feud broke out in 1984 while the Tarawnehs were on an extended visit to Jordan. The couple's daughter, Rameh, who was then 18, ran away with her Syrian cousin, Nimer Abdulsamad.

After they returned to Toledo, Dr Tarawneh and his wife hired private detectives to track Rameh down. Ben Petrillo, a Fort Lauderdale private investigator, found Rameh and her husband, Houston, 20, living in a suburb there.

Breece said Dr Tarawneh, 46, and his 44-year-old wife asked the private detective to find a hit man for them, but instead he called authorities.

In conversations between the Tarawnehs and an undercover agent posing as a hit man, the couple said they wanted to have their son-in-law and his younger sister hunged then savagely mutilated, said Breece. Severed body parts and photos of the victims were supposed to be sent to relatives in Syria to prove the deed.

When the victims' mother came to the United States to attend the funeral services, she was to be killed too and her tongue cut out because the Tarawnehs "didn't like some things she'd said," according to Breece.

Breece said Rameh and her husband were "quite pained, but not surprised at all" when told about the plot.

"Incredibly all the up in Florida," said Mrs Tarawneh during a jailhouse interview in Toledo after she and her husband were charged with conspiracy and solicitation to commit murder.

Noisy preachers fined by judge

Two ministers were hauled into court and given fines for preaching so loudly that they brought traffic to a standstill.

Ronnie McKay, 30, and Daniel Graham, 32, both Assemblies of God preachers, were each fined $25 for disrupting traffic as they delivered sermons on a park in Johnstown, Pa.

"There is nothing wrong with preaching one's religion and living by it," Judge Carson J. Abood told the two. "The only thing wrong is when it infringes on the rights of others."

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Electric calorie absorption

SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered inadvertently a new weight loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and keep them off without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a study of a test group, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the patients were astonished to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of the study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at Baldgren Hospital, University of Gothenburg, Austria, with patients lost a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing the study, published in the British journal of Nutrition, stated "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to adapt their dietary habits." One patient in the study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one individual scientist, the active ingredient (extracted from a plant native to Indonesia) is completely safe and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it binds with the fats in food and "absorbs" calories, preventing their absorption.

A spokesman for one of the companies marketing the formula in the United States, Cal-Ban 3000, Inc., said that the product will be available in pharmacies and health food stores nationwide by mid-January. The company is also offering a money-back guarantee to anyone who is not satisfied with the product.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. Congregation beats teens to death in healing ceremony

HOLY HORROR

Three young men were beaten to death during a healing ceremony that was supposed to rid them of acne!

"This was just a classic case of a situation getting out of control," Pastor Lee Kim Sang told reporters in Seoul, South Korea.

By HENRY WEBB

"At least 70 male women and children participated in the attack. But I am convinced that they weren't trying to kill anyone.

"They were trying to help them and got carried away in the process."

According to witnesses the pastor, 47-year-old Mok Sello, read a colorful scripture and then asked the congregation to help bring out and cure the group leaders.

The preacher and congregation in hysterical unanimity at first pleaded to Christ and laying their hands on a heart patient and two cancer victims, said Lt. Kim.

But when three teenagers begged for help with chronic acne, the preacher said the wicked, the presence of the devil [illegible] he said.

Instead of being healed — the young men were startled [illegible] hitting them with their fists, said the cop. [illegible] were screaming and [illegible] were trapped and terrified [illegible]

By the time the vengeance was ending with a mob mentality. Some spoke in tongues and some prayed while others beat the young men to death.

Rev. Chandelier, 60, was charged with murder in connection with the incident. But it is doubtful that she will ever spend a day in jail because so many people were with her at the time.

"We had no charge we've ever had but right now it would," said Lt. Kim. "After all these people aren't criminals. They are religious people who merely have some strange beliefs."

Honesty is a thankless job

Honest Robert Dewell turned in a briefcase containing almost $50,000 in cash and the owner didn't even say thanks!

"I earn less than $150 a week and that miserable beggar didn't even give me a tip," fumed Dewell who found the briefcase on a parking lot in Crawley, England.

"Money like that is a dream to me. I couldn't believe the man had gone off without a word."

In a horrible freak accident, a 9-year-old boy was killed when he ran into a rope stretched across a dock, fell backward and slammed his head on the platform.

The accident happened at the Weeki Wachee, Fla., attraction on the dock to a boat ride. The boy died shortly after at a St. Petersburg hospital.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

A friend's attempt to match could make a handy disciple step quicker. Don't step — talk it out and clear the air. Don't treat your loved ones with the cold shoulder.

Others might be trying to get others to help out with your project. Finish it yourself!

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Sparks may fly this week if you insist on having your way, so avoid controversial subjects for a while. With your well-known Sagittarian tolerance you'll get what you want sooner or later anyway.

Kitten freed from block of ice — alive!

A stray cat miraculously survived 36 freezing hours — trapped in a block of ice that had formed under a car fender.

The forlorn kitten's predicament was noticed after Kathleen Horner's dog ran around her parked station wagon barking.

"When I stood by the front of the car, I heard a faint meow," said Miss Horner of Olean, N.Y. "I looked underneath and saw the cat frozen in a block of ice under the front fender on the passenger side."

She went to a nearby tire shop looking for help. "The guys there were wonderful. They kept pouring hot water over the fender of my car. Finally this big ice cube came out with the cat inside."

The cat was rushed to a veterinarian and gradually thawed out with cold water.

"He was not completely defrosted in the ice because obviously the little guy would have suffocated," said vet Dr. Richard Payne.

The cat survived in relatively good shape, he said, because its thick fur served as an insulating barrier, protecting it from ice formed under the fender from slush picked up off the road.

Miss Horner said the lucky kitten will be a stray no longer. She has adopted it.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat-Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) — An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

No Dieting—Eat Normally

Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a really new major medical breakthrough in weight loss (worldwide patent pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

"Pills Do All the Work"

According to the doctors, the fat-magnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public

If you need to lose 20, 50, 60 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer) by mail or phone order only. By sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 6701 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. 9934, Los Angeles, CA 90025 (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. Boy, 16, has never slept!

He's been awake since birth!

By BEATRICE DEXTER

Sixteen-year-old Manolo Lopez Garcia has never slept. Never.

Not once in his life has the young man closed his eyes and drifted off into sweet slumber — yet doctors say he is perfectly healthy and mentally alert.

"He is an active boy, an excellent student and in all other ways perfectly normal," said a physician in Valdivia, Chile, who cares for the amazing teen. "But he hasn't slept in his entire 16 years.

"His mother brought him to me when he was less than a week old, complaining that he never closed his eyes in sleep. His condition hasn't changed since then. He simply has never gotten drowsy and has never felt the need for a good night's rest."

Manolo recently came to the attention of the Chilean public through a television show featuring people with bizarre talents and abilities. Since his discovery in January, dozens of psychologists, sleep experts, and medical doctors have studied his rare case — and none has come up with an explanation for his malady.

"Occasionally we hear of people — usually adults — who have not slept for months or even years," the boy's doctor, Rogelio Andueza, explained on television. "But this is an individual who has never slept. This is someone who doesn't know what sleeping feels like.

"Manolo has told me he is curious about sleep but has no desire to try it. He says he can't imagine letting himself slip into unconsciousness."

Dr. Andueza said his patient has lived all his life in a quiet village near Valdivia. When he is not attending school, he helps care of his seven brothers and sisters and works on his family's farm.

The teenager eats normally and gets a few hours of exercise each day, Dr. Andueza said, but when bedtime arrives his behavior departs completely from the normal.

"The rest of his family turns in about 10 p.m., but Manolo stays up," Dr. Andueza said. "He studies, listens to the radio or works at his hobby of whittling birds. Early in the morning he starts preparing breakfast for his parents and his sisters and brothers. By the time they get up, everything is done."

None of Manolo's relatives suffer from a sleep disorder like the teenager's, but a grandfather required only two or three hours of sleep at night to be fully rested, Dr. Andueza said.

He believes Manolo has inherited his wakefulness from his grandparent.

Experts agree that the boy has suffered no physical or mental harm to date and will probably not suffer harm in the future.

Divers give high marks to suds from 1894 shipwreck

Bottoms up!

Divers Stephen Bleasdale and Ian Thornton found a bizarre treasure in the icy waters off the Scottish coast — bottles of ale that have been lying undisturbed on the sea bottom for almost a century.

And incredibly, the foamy stuff tastes as good as the day it was brewed!

The two English frogmen couldn't believe their eyes when they discovered a cargo of McEwan's Ale that was lost when the freighter Wotlawkin sank in the Firth of Clyde in 1894.

Though the wreck lies 100 feet below the surface, the brave lads managed to recover a few precious pints for closer study.

But even on the ravages of time and tide at the bottom of the sea finally fulfilled its intended destiny. It was a case of bottoms up and down the hatch.

"We poured a little into a glass and it had a thick, creamy head," said Ian with a grin. "We all tried it and it was delicious.

"We're determined now to go back and bring up the entire cargo."

McEwan's Pale Ale was exported to the Caribbean and Ghulab Ali Din, 30, got 15 lashes and a 10-year sentence for dealing drugs.

The floggings were staged on the largest cricket stadium in Karachi so that virtually anyone who wished could attend.

Before the men received their lashings, all their baths were sprinkled with stinging kerosene to prevent any infection of their wounds, authorities said.
